Sale Of Canton-Hankow Railroad Concession

IT WAS THE THREATENED SALE OF THIS CONCESSION WHICH IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN CONSIDERED SO IMPORTANT A MATTER TO THE UNITED STATES AS TO LEAD TO SENDING AMBASSADOR CONGER BACK TO CHINA.

(Associated Press Cable to The Star).

NEW YORK, August 29.—The Canton-Hankow railroad has been resold to China for $6,750,000.

The threatened sale of the Hankow Railroad concession was one of the matters coming up which is supposed to have led to the resignation of Ambassador to Mexico Conger in order to go to China as Special Commissioner. An idea of how important this sale is considered may be gathered from the following interview with Ambassador Conger immediately after his conference with President Roosevelt.

As a result of today's conference with the President at Sagamore Hill, Edwin H. Conger, Ambassador to Mexico and former Minister to China, will probably return to China as a special commissioner to solve the serious problem which the boycott and Hankow railroad concession has created.

Stanley Dollar Case Is Decided

JUDGE DOLE HOLDS THAT THE JAPS ARE ENTITLED TO RECOVER FOR THE FAILURE OF THE STEAMER TO TAKE THEM TO SEATTLE, BUT ARE NOT ENTITLED TO DAMAGES BEYOND THE LOSSES SUSTAINED.

United States Judge Dole this afternoon decided the Stanley Dollar steamship case, awarding to the Japanese who libelled the steamer, judgment for the return of their passage money, their fare to Honolulu to take the steamer and $30 each for baggage which the steamer took away and leaving other claims for losses incurred by reason of

A STREET CAR HORROR.

LOS ANGELES August 29.—An electric car upset here today on a steep grade with fatal result. One person was killed and eleven were injured.

AT THE JAPANESE CONSULATE.

Up to one o'clock today the Japanese consulate had received no confirmatory message of the news that peace terms had been agreed upon between the envoys in session at Portsmouth, N. H.

"I have no doubt that if the news is correct we will hear of it very soon," said Consul Miki Saito to the Star, "but in the absence of official notification I cannot say anything about the matter."

HOW PEACE WAS REACHED

The peace envoys met in Portsmouth on August 9, devoting their first day to a settlement of the method of procedure.

On the tenth the Japanese representatives handed to the Russians a statement of the terms proposed by the Tokio government. These included the evacuation of Manchuria, cession of Saghalien and Port Arthur, Japanese to be dominant in Korea payment of an indemnity by Russia, retention by Japan of Russian war vessels interned in various neutral ports, fishing rights for Japanese subjects on the Siberian coasts and limitation of Russia's future naval strength in waters of the Far East.

The terms were regarded as so severe that the outlook for peace was declared to be very bad, after the first few days of discussion. Russia especially objected to the payment of an indemnity or the cession of Saghalien, while conceding Japan's contentions as to Manchuria, Korea and the Liaoyang peninsula. The consideration of the points of disagreement was postponed, and the envoys proceeded to take up the propositions on which they were nearer agreement, leaving Saghalien and the indemnity for later discussion.
